Pre-washed, presoaked, precooked and dehydrated and ground, VegeFull bean ingredients can be incorporated into baked, extruded or canned food for dogs and cats—without altering the taste, texture or appearance of pet food.

Beans – nutrition built by nature!

Along with being protein-rich and high in fiber, beans have a number of important health benefits. Beans are naturally low in fat and sodium and contain nutrients such as calcium, magnesium, potassium, iron, choline and folic acid. VegeFull bean products can deliver this important nutrient content to pet foods, helping manufacturers to develop functional and nutritionally-balanced products.

Beans – quality you can trust!

Inherently gluten-free and non-allergenic, cooked bean ingredients also support clean processing and product labeling. Add U.S. origin, non-GMO, Kosher pareve certified, and minimally processed in a dedicated GMP/HACCP facility to the benefits list, and you will understand the excitement for the VegeFull line of products.
